NOTE FOR: Dr. Wheelon

SUBJECT : 303 Committee Post-Mission Reports

1. This is a good time to re-examine the 303 Committee report project. The great majority are both routine in character and uninteresting. The frequency of TACKLE missions has been increasing and the reports, with rare exceptions, can't compete with more pressing priorities and have been declining in timeliness.

2. I recommend that hereafter post-TACKLE mission reports be issued only when unusual operational circumstances arise (shootdowns, etc.) or when uniquely valuable intelligence is acquired.
